HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM LAST YEAR AND WHAT AFFECTED ITS PERFORMANCE?

For the 12-month period ended September 30, 2025, the Intrepid Capital Fund, Investor Class (ICMBX), underperformed its primary benchmark, the Bloomberg Combined 1-5Y TR Index (60% S&P 500 Index/40% Bloomberg U.S. Government/Credit 1-5 Year Total Return Index). This underperformance was largely due to the Fund's limited exposure to the "Magnificent Seven" stocks within the S&P 500, which significantly outperformed the broader market during this period. Additionally, certain individual equity holdings faced challenges that adversely affected performance. Conversely, the Fund's strategic allocation to debt instruments contributed positively, with specific fixed-income positions delivering strong returns. Notably, the Fund's emphasis on founder-led companies provided a competitive edge, as these firms often exhibit strong leadership and a vested interest in long-term success. The management team remains committed to its disciplined investment approach, focusing on undervalued opportunities across both equity and debt markets to achieve long-term capital appreciation and high current income for investors.

HOW DID THE FUND PERFORM OVER THE PAST 10 YEARS?*

The $10,000 chart reflects a hypothetical $10,000 investment in the class of shares noted. The chart uses total return NAV performance and assumes reinvestment of dividends and capital gains. Fund expenses, including 12b-1 fees, management fees and other expenses were deducted.
